

Security Precautions

Exhibitors are exclusively responsible for the care, custody and control of their exhibit materials. Please review the following suggestions for safeguarding your display and merchandise. NMMA will have a show perimeter guard service 24 hours a day including set-up, the exposition period, and dismantling days.

1. Have one of your employees remain with your exhibit at all times, including move-in and move-out.
2. Do not display prototype, one-of-a-kind items or irreplaceable samples without having someone present at all times.
3. Do not leave merchandise under tables or displays.
4. Cover your display with cloth, tarpaulin, sheets, or tablecloths at the close of the show every night. This is a deterrent and avoids curiosity seekers.
5. Do not store excess merchandise in the empties (crates & cartons) that are stored by the freight department in or outside the facility.
6. At the breakdown of the show, remain with your goods and merchandise until your empties have arrived, goods are packed and labeled, and the bills of lading are prepared.
7. If you are conducting retail sales, make change from a belt or waist pack.

Accurate Event Services is the official security contractor for the Miami International Boat Show & Strictly Sail. If you require private security, please contact them directly at 954-927-4155.

While the NMMA will exercise reasonable care to safeguard your property, neither the NMMA, the Miami International Boat Show & Strictly Sail, the Miami Beach Convention Center, security contractor, or associated show contractors nor any of their agents or employees are responsible or assume any responsibility for the loss of exhibit materials, merchandise or associated exhibitor display equipment of such property.

All losses must be reported to the Operations Manager, Melissa Gaffney, at the Show Office Room C33. All insurance and tax claims will require a police report or police case number. Please make sure to obtain a case number directly from the Miami or Miami Beach Police Department for claim purposes, and check with your insurance company for any additional requirements they may have.
